PASTURED CHICKEN – available at the end of August

Felicity Farm chickens are raised on pasture, and are fed a mixture of sprouts and non-GMO grains. (This means no corn and no soy.) They never receive any antibiotics or artificial growth hormones. Their diet contains all the vitamins and minerals and fresh water they need for a healthy and happy life. We take the time to raise these chickens right – it takes nearly twice as long to raise these pastured chickens compared to a conventional barn-raised bird, and as a result their flavor is supreme. You'll see for yourself.

A whole roasting chicken is 5-7 lbs. (Please note this is larger than your average chicken at the grocery store!) We can cut up your whole chicken into pieces (drumsticks, thighs, boneless skinless breasts, wings, and backs and necks) for an additional $7 per bird.
